2.2.1 The institution assesses the learning levels of the students and organises special Programmes for advanced learners and slow learners

Response:

Mechanism to identify slow learners

The institution evaluates learning levels of newly joined students at the start of classes. Based on their intermediate marks, students enrolled are classified as slow or advanced learners. The identification of slow learners for other students and designing customized tutorial sessions are organized based on the feedback provided by the mentors. The mentors of the individual classes provide valuable assistance in classifying students through reports based on observation and class examinations. Furthermore, the variety of continuous assessment components, such as Daily Assignments, Seminars and Group Discussions, Additional Assignments, Quizzes, Class Tests, Projects, Internships, Viva-voce examinations, and attendance, allows for effective measurement of students' learning levels. Slow learners are also recognized based on their performance in the preceding semester's university assessments and internal examinations. Furthermore, teacher-student interactions, Class Committee reports, and Proctorial meetings aid in the identification of different levels of learners. Faculty members and other committees examine students' academic progress on a regular basis and advise them on how to enhance their performance in order to assure their academic progression. Aside from that, activities are incorporated to instil a positive attitude and a competitive spirit. This procedure serves as a foundation for tracking the student's future progress.

Measures taken for improving academic performance of these students

- ❖ Remedial/Extra classes are conducted with appropriate focus on the subject/ topics in which the students are found to be slow learners.
- ❖ Individual academic counseling is done by concerned subject teacher.
- ❖ Personal counseling is done through mentoring scheme which takes care of the students.
- ❖ The mentors maintain the entire academic record of the student which is also conveyed to the parents time to time by the mentor.
- ❖ Through a mentor-mentee system, all kinds of support are provided to the slow learners.
- ❖ The strenuous efforts taken by the faculty towards the slow learners has resulted in student's understanding in their chosen domain, improved results.

- ❖ The mentor also identifies other skills and strengths and encourages them to hone them which helps build self-confidence resulting in improvement in academic performance also.
- ❖ The mentor takes extra effort to understand the socio-economic backgrounds also which is sometimes a reason for poor performance.
- ❖ All necessary emotional and professional counselling is also provided whenever required.
- ❖ The mentor also connects the weak learners for the subject teachers with whom they are comfortable for extra support. The Institute ensures that a slow learner clears all his courses within stipulated

Advanced Learners:

- ❖ Advanced learners are given numerous opportunities to expand their knowledge and abilities. Participants are encouraged to attend and present research papers at various seminars, conferences, workshops, and intercollegiate contests.
- ❖ They are encouraged to participate in extracurricular activities such as debates, problem solving, and experiential learning and so on.
- ❖ Guiding and encouraging communicating research papers in conferences/Journals

2.3.1 Student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem solving methodologies are used for enhancing learning experiences

Response:

Experiential Learning

Faculty members promote a learning environment by engaging in rich experiential teaching content through experimentation, demonstration, visual aids, occasional industrial visits, organizing exhibitions, and delivering papers. The Student seminars are required in all programmes at the institute. Typically, students deliver seminars on current topics as well as cutting-edge technologies. All courses offered at the institute require project work. The implementation period lasts one to two semesters. The effective processes of survey, case study, implementation, testing, and report writing ensure that students receive the necessary project-based learning. Some disciplines are supplemented with learning while doing miniprojects. Projects and assignments are given to students in addition to the standard curriculum, which improves their capacity to absorb and convey additional information on a specific topic and gives them the chance to learn firsthand. Students tour the pharmaceutical sector and are given four weeks of training to help them learn the industrial manufacturing processes, quality assurance process, stability studies, and flow of the industry.

Participative learning:

In this type of learning, students participate in various activities such as seminar, group discussion, wall papers, projects, and the skill based add on courses. Teachers make classes as interactive as possible and encourage innovative thought and novel interpretations. Audio-Visual methodology, hands-on practice sessions, Industrial Visits, Field Work and Projects are some of the means utilize by the Institution to provide experiential and participative learning. The case study method is a participatory, discussion based way of learning where students gain skills in critical thinking, communication, and group dynamics.

Students take part in clinical activities like patient-guiding during their pragmatic hours and furthermore permitted to take part in mock counseling sessions where students consider themselves as Patients.

Project-based learning

The institute has established separate research committees that supports and helps students develop their research abilities in order to foster research activities by providing the required resources. The committee can be contacted by interested students via the research policy to help them with any of their research initiatives. In accordance with the research policy, students may also receive travel and/or registration reimbursements for presenting their research findings at conferences, seminars, and poster competitions. Additionally, students are encouraged to write research papers with the assistance of teachers.

Clerkship

During their curriculum, students will receive brief exposure to and training in a variety of practice settings, including businesses, pharmacies, and hospitals.

1. To give students a sense of what it would be like to work in the field.
2. To expose them; this will spark their interest in learning the material from a real-world standpoint.
3. To give students the chance to practise interacting and working with real-world experts.
4. The students would be exposed to "Patient" in various settings, which would help them understand the patients' requirements, the value of effective communication, and social, cultural, and emotional variables that cannot be replicated in a college setting.

Report on Two-day Workshop on Drug safety and ADR reporting

A two-day workshop on Drug Safety and Adverse Drug Reaction (ADR) Reporting was held at VPC, on 10th May 2024 with Dr. Karthik Rakam, Founder of Pharm Doctors and Avenida Innovations LLP, President of Pharmacon Society as the resource person and Dr. Sandeep as the coordinator of the program. The workshop aimed to provide participants with comprehensive knowledge and practical skills related to drug safety, the importance of ADR reporting, and the various methodologies used in ensuring the safe use of medications.

The workshop began with Dr. Karthik Rakam's insightful presentation on the basics of drug safety, highlighting its significance in the pharmacovigilance domain. He elaborated on the regulatory frameworks governing ADR reporting and the global practices followed in monitoring drug safety. He emphasized the need for healthcare professionals to actively engage in the detection and reporting of ADRs to ensure patient safety and improve therapeutic outcomes.

Dr. Rakam also introduced various types of ADRs, ranging from mild side effects to severe adverse events. He discussed the importance of early detection and timely reporting through platforms such as the WHO's VigiBase and the Indian Pharmacopoeia Commission's Pharmacovigilance Programme of India (PvPI). Additionally, participants were educated on the standardized methods for documenting and analyzing ADRs, ensuring they understood the correct processes for reporting.

The second day of the workshop featured interactive sessions, case studies, and group discussions, allowing participants to explore real-world scenarios involving ADRs. Dr. Sandeep, the program coordinator, facilitated these sessions and provided valuable insights into the role of healthcare professionals in ADR surveillance and reporting. The workshop concluded with a hands-on demonstration of ADR reporting tools, where attendees practiced documenting ADRs.

The event successfully equipped participants with the necessary skills to understand and report ADRs, reinforcing the importance of maintaining drug safety standards in clinical practice.

Duration: 30th September 2023 to 4th October 2023

Purpose: Donation of Clothes to Orphanages

The NSS Unit of Vaagdevi Pharmacy College successfully conducted the Vastra Sahayog Campaign, a charitable initiative aimed at collecting and donating clothes to orphanages. The campaign, which began on 30th September 2023 concluded on 4th October 2023, receiving overwhelming support and participation from students, faculty, and staff.
